

Maternity Disability Leave Guidelines – Washington State

Effective January 1, 2023

Congratulations on your soon to be new family member! Pregnancy disability leave is the most common type of leave and specific benefits do apply, that's why we've developed the following guide to help set your expectations as to what will happen during a "typical" maternity leave process and the timing involved. Your leave of absence will be unique to you, but this guide will provide information that applies to most maternity leaves of absence.

Which employees are eligible?

- All employees working continuously with Premier Talent Partners for a minimum of 12 months.

How can I apply?

- All employees who make more than $117,606.67 annually are encouraged to apply for short term disability and Washington State Paid Medical Leave (WA PML) to replace your income.
- Please complete the UHC STD Claim form and submit to shaun.dubrow@newfront.com.
- Apply for Washington State Paid Medical Leave at the link below or call (833) 717-2273.
<https://paidleave.wa.gov/apply-now/>

When Your Leave Begins

Your leave will begin when it has been approved by HR or when your physician certifies that you are unable to work due to your pregnancy. Please report your need for a leave a minimum of 30 days before your expected Due Date.

Contact Shaun with Newfront Insurance (shaun.dubrow@newfront.com) and Premier at people@premiertalentpartners.com prior with a doctor's certification.

Specifics for Pregnancy Leave

After you are no longer considered disabled, if you decide to take Family/Bonding Leave with your child, that will begin. You can request up to 16 (18 if approved) weeks of combined medical and family leave if you have more than one qualifying event in the same year.

You will normally be considered disabled for six weeks after the birth of your baby, regardless of the time you were out prior to delivery (if at all), and in some cases longer with certification from a doctor. You will receive disability benefits as shown below only while you are considered disabled.

Healthcare Benefits While On Leave

Your benefits will remain unchanged for up to 4 months and the normal employee portion of the benefits cost will apply. If your total leave time is more than 4 months, your benefits will be terminated and you will be offered COBRA. If you are currently enrolled in Premier benefits, you will be required to pre-pay your premium contribution for the time of your leave prior to last day worked.

If you want to add your new child to Premier Talent Partners benefits (medical / dental / vision / life) or make other changes to your benefits, please log-in to UKG within 30 days of your baby's birth

Don't forget to take advantage of your UHC Employer Assistance Program (EAP) benefits. Call UHC EAP: 1-866-302-4480 or liveandworkwell.com; access code LIFEBENSVS

How You're Paid While On a Maternity Leave

- The maximum disability benefit you will receive from ALL sources is 60% of your weekly earnings.

Example: If you live in Washington and have a pre-disability income of $120,000 annually, you would be due a weekly benefit of $1,384.62 (60%).

EXAMPLE OF PAYMENT WHILE ON PREGNANCY LEAVE:

Time Period (Calendar Weeks)	Compensation
Baby is born and is covered under mother's medical plan for 30 days. You have 30 days to add your baby to your benefit plan. To add your baby to your medical plan, reach out to benefits@premiertalentpartners.com
Week 1 (Calendar Days 1-7)	Disability Waiting Period Starts	You have the right to access the Premier Flexible Time Off plan (if eligible) or go without income.
Weeks 2-6 (Starting Day 8)	Paid Medical Leave / Disability Leave	Disability Benefits: 60% weekly earnings from UHC STD for 6 weeks (8 if approved), 90% of your weekly pay up to $1,427 from WA PFML (as approved by a doctor).
Weeks 7+	Baby Bonding Leave	Refer to Baby Bonding Leave Flyer.